Brief Description of Arguments to be Presented:

With respect to claims 1-16 and 19, the subject matter has been amended and is now limited to a practical application of solving computational related problems within the technological art of computer programming, as required by MPEP §2106, which therefore produces a "concrete, useful and tangible result" and accordingly is statutory. Support for the amendment will be presented.

With respect to claims 15-16, the claims have been amended. Support for the amendment will be presented.
